The Circuit Preacher.

His thin wife's cheek grows pinched and pale with anxiousness latense;
He sees the brethren's prayerful eyes o'er all the conference;
He hears the Bishop slowly call the long "Appointment" rolls,
Where in his vineyard God would place the gatherers of souls.

Apart, austere, the knot of grim Presiding Elders sit; He wonders if some city "Charge" may not for him have writ?

Certes! could they his sermon hear on Paul and Luke awreck,
Then had his talent ne'er been hid on Annomessix Neck!

Poor rugged heart, be still a pause, and you, worn wife, be meek!

worn wife, be meek!
Two years of banishment they read far down
the Chesapeake!
Though Brother Bates, less eloquent, by Wilmington is wooed,
The Lord that counts the sparrows fall shall feed his little brood.

"Cheer upl my girl, here Brother Riggs our circuit knows 'twill please. He raised three hundred dollars thore, besides the marriage fees.

What! tears from us who preached the Word these thirty years or so?
Two years on barron Chincoteague, and two in Tuckahoe?

"The schools are good, the brethren say, and our Church holds the wheel.

The Presbyterians lost their house; the Baptists lost their zeal.

The parsonage is clean and dry; the town has friendly folk—

Not half so dull as Rhehoboth, nor proud like

"Oh! thy just will, our Lord, be done, though these eight seasons more,
We see our ague-crippled boys pine on the Eastern Shore,
While we, thy stewards, journey out our dedicated years
Midst foresters of Nanticoke, or heathen of Tangiers!

Tangiere!

"Yeal some must serve on God's frontiers, and I shall fall, perforce.

To sow upon some better ground my most sclect discourse;
At Sassefras, or Smyrna, preach my argument on 'Drink,'

My series on the Pentateuch, at Appoquini-"Gray, am I, brethren, in the work, the work, though tough to bear my part;

It is these drooping little ones that sometimes wring my heart,
And cheat me with the vain conceit the cleverness is mine
To fill the churches of the Elk, and pass the Brandwine

Brandywine.

"These hairs were brown, when, full of hope, ent'ring these holy lists, Proud of my Order as a knight—the shouting Methodist,—
I made the pine woods ring with hymns, with prayer the night winds shook,
And preached from Assawaman Light far North as Bombay Hook.

"My nag was gray, my gig was new; fast went the sandy miles; The eldest Trustees gave me praise, the fairest sisters smiles; Still I recall how Elder Smith on Worton Heights averred My Apoatolic Parallels the best he ever heard.

"All Winter long I rode the snows, rejoicing

on my way;
At midnight our Revival hymns rolled o'er the subbing bay;
Three Sabbath sermons, every week, should tire a man of brass—
And still our fervent membership must have their extra Class!

"Aggressive with the zeal of youth, in many a warm requite, I terrified Immersionists and scourged the

Millerite;
But larger, tender charities such vain debates supplant,
When the dear wife, saved by my zeal, loved the Itinerant. "No cooing dove of storms afeard, she shared my life's distress, A singing Miriam, alway, in God's poor wilder-

The wretched at her footsteps smiled, the frivolous were still;

A bright path marked her pilgrimage from Blackbird to Snowhill.

"A new face in the parsonage, at church a double pride!
Like the Madouna and her babe they filled the 'Amen-cide'.
Crouched at my feet in the old gig, my boy, so fair and frank,
Noscongo's darkest marshes cheered, and sluices of Choptank.

"My cloth drew close; too fruitful love my fruitless life outran; The townfolk marveled, when we moved, at such a caravan! I wonder not my lads grew wild, when, bright, without the door.

without the door,
Spread the ripe, luring, wanton world, and we within, so poor!

"For, down the silent cypres aisles came shapes even me to scout,

Mocking the lean flanks of my mare, my boy's patched roundabout,

And saying—Have these starveling boors, thy congregation, souls,

That on their dull heads Heaven and thou pour forth such living coals?

"Then prayer brought hopes, half secular, like seers by Endor's witch;
Boyond our barren Maryland, God's folks were wise and rich;
When climbing spires and easy pews showed how the preacher thrived,
And all old brethren paid their reut, and many young ones wived!

"I saw the ships Henlopen pass, with chap-lains fat and sleek; From Bishophead with fancy's sails I crossed the Chesapeake; In volvet pulpits at the North said my best sermons o'er,

And that on Paul to Patmos driven, drew tears in Baltimore. "Well! well! my brethren, it is true, we should not preach for pelf—

(I would my sermons on Saint Paulthe Bishop heard himself!)
But this crushed wife—these boys—these hairs; they cut me to the core;
Is it not hard, year after year, to ride the Eastern Shore?

"Next year? Yes! yes! I thank you much! Then my reward may fall, (That is a down-right fine discourse on Pat-mos and Saint Paul!)

So, Brother Riggs, once more my voice shall ring in the old lists.

Cheer up, sick heart, who would not die among those Methodists?"

CHEAP PLEASURES. Did you ever study the cheapness of some pleasures?

asks some writer. Do you know how little it takes to make a multitude happy? Such trifles as a penny, a word or a smile do the work. There are two or three boys passing along—give them each a chestnut, and how smiling they look; they will not be cross for some time. A poor widow lives in the neighborhood, who is the mother of half a dozen children. Send them a half peck of sweet apples, and they will all be happy. A child has lost his arrow—the world to him—and he mourns sadly; help him to find it or make him another, and how quickly will the sun-shine come over the sober face. A boy has as much as he can do to pile up a lond of wood: as he can do to pile up a load of wood; assist him a few moments, or speak a pleasant word to him, and he forgets his oil, and works away without minding it. Your apprentice has broken a mug, or cut the vent too large, or slightly injured a piece of work. Say "you scoundrel," and he feels miserable; but remark, "I am sorry," and he will try to do better. You employ a man, pay him cheerfully, and speak a pleasant word to him, and he leaves your house with a contented beart, to light up, his own hearth with heart, to light up his own hearth with smiles and gladness. As you pass along the street, you meet a familiar face; say "good morning," as though you felt happy, and it will work admirably in the heart of your neighbor. Pleasure is cheap. Who will not bestow it liberally? If there are smiles, sun-shine and flowers about us, let us not grasp them with a miser's fist, and lock them up in our hearts. No; rather let us take them and heart, to light up his own hearth with scatter them about us, in the cot of the widow, among the group of children in the crowded mart, where men of business congregate, in our families and everywhere. We can make the wretched happy, the discontented cheerful, the afflicted resigned, at an exceedingly cheap rate. Who will refuse to do it?

BEET!

BOME dealers in this city have been in doubt that I could hold out supplying them with Beer this summer. I now inform the public that I have a large supply of old Lager Beer on hand, which I put against any Beer brought from the North, or even imported from Germany, as to purity and strength. I am ready to test it by the Beer scale.

SOLUBLE MANURES.

The Sulphuric Acid and Super-Phosphate Company, of Charleston, S. C.,

HAVING completed their extensive Manufactory, are now prepared to furnish Soluble Fertilizers, no other kinds being available to planters for immediate returns for their Hertilizers, no other kinds being available to planters for immediate returns for their investments.

This Company, under the direction entirely of Southern men of high character, offers inducements which will recommend it to Southern planters. Their works are among the largest and most complete in the United States, and enable them to prepare at home an abundant supply of the proper solvent for the South Carolina native Bone Phosphates which are near by. From these Phosphates they propose to manufacture a Fertilizer even richer in soluble Phosphate than those made from raw bones, and containing more than twice the quantity of Super-Phosphate of Lime found in the best average Manures heretofore offered for sale, the rates at which we offer them being no higher than the average price of other Fertilizers, while the Manures contain twice as much fertilizing material; they are in fact much cheaper to the consumer. They are offered on the n arket in two forms, with a guarantee that the material in each will correspond to the advertisement.

ETIWAN, No. 1.—Soluble Phosphate, containining from eighteen to twenty-five per cent. of Pure Soluble Phosphate of Lime, and furnished at sixty dollars per ton.
